Bereavement Healing Flush

Bereavement Healing Flush is a mental and emotional healing system that helpful to transform buried grief & loss, possibly manifesting as an unreasonable fear of loss or an inability to deal with another's grief.

Grief is a very powerful emotion and one that many people are unaware that they carry at an unconscious level. A deep loss, whether caused by death, divorce or in some other way, leaves a shock in our energetic system. When we are unable to release the accompanying very natural emotions of grief and sadness these feelings are gradually buried deeper and deeper into the unconscious.

Buried grief can often be recognized as a sense of unexplained sadness in the heart or perhaps as a fear of making a real heart connection with someone in case the pain of loss is repeated.

Sometimes when working with this emotion we can find that the root of the issue comes from our original feelings of grief at separation from our twin soul. As we release and transmute these old memories we are able to open our hearts and recognize that we have always been connected to the Whole.

Broken Heart Empowerment

Inner Self Evolution $50

Inner self evolution - spiritual cord cutting from Hari Winarso

Inner Self Evolution™ Empowerments Workshop is a method of Spiritual cord cutting. This is by far one of the best ways I have channeled to release any negative emotions we encounter each day, we have held on to from all lives past and present and cutting all emotional bonds to others that are no longer needed in our day to day lives.

It is based on Truth that only love is real and all fears and negativities we run across are only illusions we allow ourselves to see and feel. Once you come to understand the vibration that resonates by only love is real you will encounter an amazing discovery and journey into one's self. Everyone we come into contact with in all ways there is a cord there that we need to cut. You can't cut the cords of love with that person it is always and will be there, The other cords we have there is no need for and this then is what releases us from all the bonds we have with others negative, emotional, and in all ways..

The Inner Self Evolution™ Empowerments Workshop took the some simple mental, emotional and spiritual tools / functions of cord cutting and turned it into a very powerful tool of karmic healing. Cord cutting sounds vicious but actually all it means is the dissolution of attachments. Attachments being any negative thought you have ever had about anything, that in some way causes you pain and suffering. Any attachment filled with love will never be altered or cut by this technique, this love can only be enhanced by the removal of the negative attachments.

The subconscious mind observes and records everything that has ever influenced us in our lives. Often these influences are programmed in such a way that they hold us back or sabotage our ability to move forward. They often prevent us from reaching our full potential. This is due in part to the subconscious recording things as threats which must be avoided in future, even if that threat is actually no longer there. A large portion of our subconscious mind consists of old, stale, fearful programs and patterns that in a hidden way can be sabotaging our daily life. Any bad experiences, emotional hurts, disappointments and criticisms are recorded in our subconscious mind as a program. We often spend much time clearing our conscious mind, where in fact it is the subconscious mind that creates and runs the programs that make us act and react in certain ways.

Subconscious clearing is vital in order to truly step out of repetitive non-supportive programs.
